Q.2) Read the following passage carefully and complete the activities:

The following Saturday was the Inter-House singing competition. Rima, who was participating in the English song category, was surprised to see Malti's name in the list of participants for the Hindi song category. "Oily plaits sings also," she said snidely to Clare. "Croaks, you mean," giggled Clare.

They were to be proved wrong. Malti sang beautifully. She had a melodious and well-trained voice. Rima and her gang had decided to jeer when Malti sang, but there was such absolute silence, they did not dare to. They were sure to get caught. When Malti finished, the Principal was the first one to start clapping, followed by the teachers and students.

No one was surprised when Malti won the first prize. Rima did come first in her category; somehow, she felt no joy.

- 4) How did Malti prove Rima and Clare wrong? (01)

Q.3) Read the following Poem carefully and complete the activities:

Tell me, tell me, smiling child,

What the past is like to thee?

‘An Autumn evening soft and mild

With a wind that sighs mournfully.’

Tell me, what is the present hour?

‘A green and flowery spray

Where a young bird sits gathering its power

To mount and fly away.’

And what is the future, happy one?

‘A sea beneath a cloudless sun;

A mighty, glorious, dazzling sea

Stretching into infinity.’

1. Write one line about each of the following with the help of the poem. (02)
 - a) Wind in the autumn evening
 - b) Young bird on the spray.
